Snow Removal Help for Seniors and People with Low Mobility

Is it difficult for you to maintain your sidewalks due to age or restraints on your mobility? Do the winter months make it unsafe and difficult to leave your home? If so, the City of Edmonton now offers support for snow removal of residential sidewalks.

Seniors Home Supports Program gives seniors referrals to vetted service providers (businesses, community groups and individuals) offering these types of services. Seniors are not charged for referrals but they will pay a fee to the service provider for completing the work. The City of Edmonton is offering snow removal subsidies to those seniors that qualify through this program. For more information call 211 or visit www.SeniorsHomeSupports.com.

Hiregood is a social enterprise owned and operated by Boyle Street Community Services, a charity organization in Edmonton that provides services to people experiencing homelessness and poverty. The City of Edmonton is offering snow removal subsidies to persons with low mobility that qualify through this program.

For more information visit Hiregood or call 780-426-0500.

New Inclusive Playground Planned for Clareview Park

In partnership with Canadian Tire Jumpstart Charities, the City of Edmonton announced a plan today to build an inclusive playground in Clareview District Park. The playground structure will be a gift from Jumpstart to the City as part of the Charity's Inclusive Play Project, which focuses on removing accessibility barriers to sport and play.

"We encourage Edmontonians of all ages, abilities and interests to enjoy the benefits of physical activity, and play is one of the creative ways to do this," said Mayor Don Iveson. "I thank Jumpstart Charities for bringing their inclusive playground project to Edmonton, we look forward to celebrating this new play opportunity together." Aligning with the City's Live Active Strategy, the new 16,000 square foot inclusive playground will be the largest of its kind in Edmonton, providing imaginative and accessible spaces where kids of all abilities can play together.

Jumpstart strives to give all kids the chance to reach their full potential through access to sport and recreation," said Scott Fraser, President, Canadian Tire Jumpstart Charities. "The City of Edmonton has been a steadfast supporter of our mandate, and we are thrilled that together, we can help countless more kids by building an inclusive space where kids of all abilities can play together."

Clareview District Park is a community hub bringing people together to enjoy sport, recreation, social and cultural activities. This inclusive playground will be an exciting addition to the multi-purpose recreation centre and sports fields. The playground structures will create developmentally appropriate spaces for kids of all ages and abilities, facilitating what is referred to as "parallel play." Features will include double-wide ramps, a roller slide, a bucket seat with harness swing, a quiet zone designed for children with spectrum disorders, and more.

Thanks to generous donations from Edmonton Canadian Tire Dealers to Jumpstart's Inclusive Play Project, this will be the second Jumpstart Playground built in Alberta, and the ninth built across Canada.

"Canadian Tire has a long history of giving back to our customers by supporting the communities here we live and work," said Doug Waldie, Edmonton Canadian Tire Dealer. "On behalf of the Edmonton Canadian Tire Dealers, I'm so proud that, through this Jumpstart Playground, we can make a lasting, positive impact on our city."

The Jumpstart Playground will also serve as a platform to develop new inclusive programming through Promoting Inclusive Play in Alberta. The three-year program, led by the University of Alberta's Steadward Centre for Personal and Physical Achievement, will focus on creating accessible, inclusive activity and play opportunities for families in communities across the province. The Jumpstart playgrounds in Edmonton will serve as venues for developing this valuable programming.
